

Binh counted her fingers and measured her size,
Then snuggled and squeezed her, and gazed in her eyes.
He rocked her wee body all snug in his arms,
While vowing to always protect her from harm.

"But if there's a time that I'm not by your side
And you're frightened and scared, and you're worried inside.
I'll write you a note filled with words I hold true,
For surviving this world- a poem just for you."

Her first day of school came around very soon,
Ly Ly leapt and she squealed, and she raced 'round the room.

Binh pulled her aside as he reached in his coat,
“Just give me one second to read you this note.”

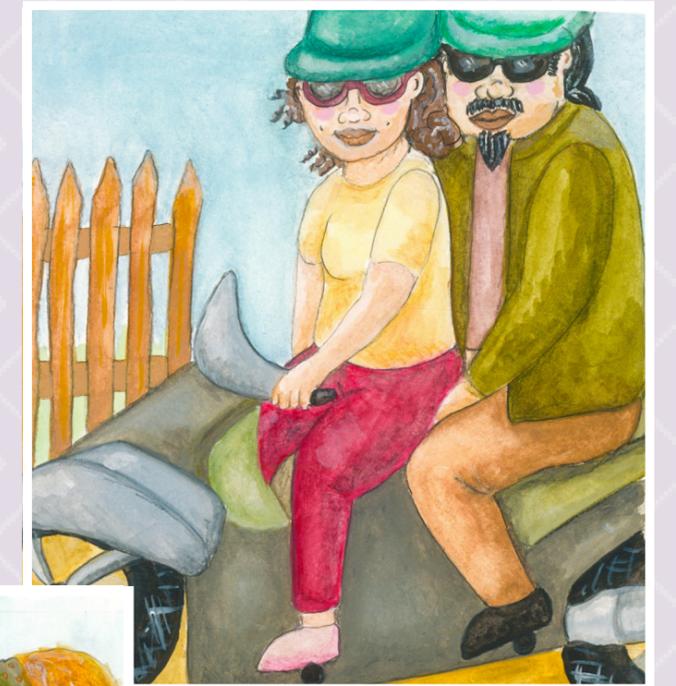

Binh became ill, life got harder and harder.
He struggled and fought to remain a good father.

First broken heart

He told her, "I'm fine," so that she wouldn't fear.....

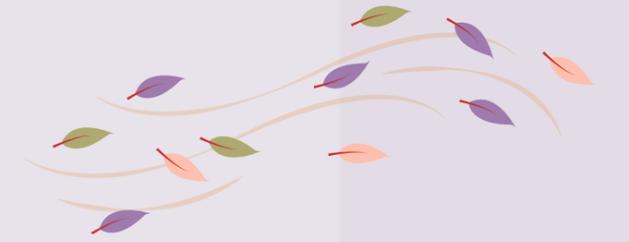

Binh to the rescue!!

.....And as much as he could, he still hovered right near.

Then out of the blue, Binh took a bad turn.
Ly Ly shrieked and she yelped, and flew home with concern.

Red eye flight

"Ly Ly, my dear, can you reach in my coat
And dig all around for that old silly note?"

Ly Ly counted her fingers and measured her size,
Then snuggled and squeezed her, and gazed in her eyes.
She rocked her wee body all snug in her arms,
While vowing to always protect her from harm.

"But if there's a time that I'm not by your side
And you're frightened and scared, and you're worried inside.
I'll give you a note filled with words I hold true,
For surviving this world- a poem now for you."
